

Sixth Sunday of Easter

Psalm 66:7-18

♩ = 112

Let all the earth cry out to God with joy.

D.C.

Bless our God, • you peoples; / make the voice of his praise to • be heard;
Who holds our souls • in life, / and will not allow our feet to • slip.

For you, O God, • have proved us; / you have tried us just as silver • is tried.
You brought us into • the snare; / you laid heavy burdens upon our • backs.

You let enemies ride over • our heads; / we went through fire • and water;
but you brought • us out / into a place of re-freshment.

I will enter your house with burnt-offerings and will pay you • my vows, which I promised with my lips and spoke with my mouth when I was • in trouble.
I will offer you sacrifices of fat beasts with the smoke • of rams;
I will give you oxen and • goats.

Come and listen, all you who • fear God,
and I will tell you what he • has done_for_me.
I called out to him with • my mouth,
and his praise was on my • tongue.

If I had found evil in my heart, the Lord would not • have heard_me;
But in truth God has heard me; he has attended to the voice of • my prayer.
Blessed be God, who has not rejected • my prayer,
nor withheld his love from • me.
