

Sixth Sunday of Easter

Psalm 66:7-18

Bless our God, · you peoples;
make the voice of his praise to · be heard;
Who holds our souls · in life,
and will not allow our feet to · slip.

For you, O God, · have proved us;
you have tried us just as silver · is tried.
You brought us into · the snare;
you laid heavy burdens upon our · backs.

You let enemies ride over · our heads;
we went through fire · and water;
but you brought · us out
into a place of re·freshment.

I will enter your house with burnt-offerings and will pay you · my vows, which I promised with my lips and spoke with my mouth when I was · in trouble.
I will offer you sacrifices of fat beasts with the smoke · of rams;
I will give you oxen and · goats.

Come and listen, all you who · fear God,
and I will tell you what he · has done for me.
I called out to him with · my mouth,
and his praise was on my · tongue.

If I had found evil in my heart, the Lord would not · have heard me;
But in truth God has heard me; he has attended to the voice of · my prayer.
Blessed be God, who has not rejected · my prayer,
nor withheld his love from · me.
