

The Epiphany of our Lord - January 6

Psalm 72:1-7, 10-14

$\text{♩} = 112$

Lord, ev - ery na - tion on earth will a - dore you.

D.C.

- 1 - Give the king your justice, O · God,
- 2 - and your righteousness to the king's · son;
- 1 - That he may rule your people · righteously
- 2 - and the poor with · justice;
- 3 - that the mountains may bring prosperity · to the people,
- 4 - and the little · hills bring righteousness.

He shall defend the needy among the · people; / he shall rescue the poor and crush the op·-pressor.
He shall live as long as the sun and · moon en-dure, / from one generation · to an-other.

He shall come down like rain upon the mown · field, / like showers that water the · earth.
In his time shall the · right-eous flourish;
there shall be abundance of peace till the moon shall · be no more.

- 1 - The kings of Tarshish and of the isles shall pay · tribute,
- 2 - and the kings of Arabia and Saba offer · gifts.
- 1 - All kings shall bow down be·-fore him,
- 2 - and all the nations do him · service.
- 3 - For he shall deliver the poor who cries · out in dis-tress,
- 4 - and the oppressed who · has no helper.

He shall have pity on the lowly and · poor;
he shall preserve the lives of the · needy.
He shall redeem their lives from op·-pression and violence,
and dear shall their blood be · in his sight.
