

The Presentation of our Lord Jesus Christ in the Temple

Psalm 84

♩ = 100

Bless-ed are they who dwell in your house, O God.

D.C.

How dear to me is · your dwelling, / O Lord · of hosts!
My soul has a desire and longing for the courts of · the Lord;
my heart and my flesh re-·joyce_in_the liv-ing God.

The sparrow has found her · a house / and the swallow a nest where she may lay · her young;
by the side of your altars, O Lord · of hosts, / my · King and my God.

Happy are they who dwell in · your house! / they will always · be praising_you.
Happy are the people whose strength is · in you! / whose hearts are · set_on_the pil-grims' way.

Those who go through the desolate valley will find it a place · of springs, for the early rains have covered it with pools · of water.
They will climb from height · to height, and the God of gods will re-·veal_him-self in Zion.

Lord God of hosts, hear · my prayer; / hearken, O God · of Jacob.
Behold our defender, · O God; / and look upon the · face_of your A-nointed.

For one day in your courts is better than a thousand in my · own room, and to stand at the threshold of the house of my God than to dwell in the tents of · the wicked.
For the Lord God is both sun · and shield; / ____ · he_will_give grace and glory;

No good thing will the Lord · with-hold / from those who walk with · in-tegrity.
O Lord · of hosts, / happy are they who · put_their trust in you!
